When you are tired you sleep-and other stories

by Katath di Angelo

Category: Shingeki no Kyojin/é€²æ’ƒã•®å·¨ä°°
Genre: Friendship, Romance
Language: English
Characters: Armin A., Eren Y., Erwin Smith, Levi
Status: In-Progress
Published: 2016-04-12 16:42:17
Updated: 2016-04-12 16:42:17
Packaged: 2016-04-27 19:14:19
Rating: T
Chapters: 1
Words: 996
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: Just a side story to my other stories. THIS WILL NOT BE UPDATED REGULARILY. Suggestions is great. If anyone wants it translated into another language, just ask. This goes for all of my stories. Note: There is other characters than just the one listed!

When you are tired you sleep-and other stories

When you are exhausted you sleep-and other stories

(A/N) Hey again! This is just a side-story to my A third 'di Angelo' story, because I have so many ideas that does not work with that story. You can read A third 'di Angelo' here: s/11758182/1/A-third-di-Angelo You can come with suggestions here and on A third 'di Angelo' as I read all reviews in one go. Let's get on with the story

Chapter 1

When you are exhausted you sleep

"And now it's time for everyone to go to bed, but before you do, please go get your schedule." Erwin stood up and went out of the room. I shifted in my seat, exhaustion gnawing at my whole body.

"Come on Eren, it's almost light's out." Armin said, raising up from the bench he had been sitting on. I nodded and followed him out of the room. Half-way, I felt my knees buckle, and my vision wavered, black spots around the edges of my vision. The last thing I heard was a faint "_Eren_!" before I lost consciousness.

Warm, but cold at the same time. What happened? I was on someones lap, the bottom half of my body on the floor.

"Captain, Squad Leader Hanji, please get over here!" I faintly heard Armin scream (A/N) watch?v=Em9MALBLk1o not like this, but still.) It was followed by rustling and I heard someone come towards us.

"Oh dear, what happened?" Hanji's voice held both concern and interest.

"I don't know, he just collapsed behind me." Armin said, and suddenly I was up in the air. Who was carrying me? It couldn't be Armin, as he was the one who had my head on his lap, and as far as I knew he was still on the floor. Hanji had long hair, and I would have felt it if her hair had been near my face. Which just left only one person left. The person lifting me was Levi Heichou. I sighed, and fell once again into the world of darkness.

Cold and wet. Something cold and wet was placed on my forehead. My whole body was hot, and my left side ached, almost as if I had stretched a muscle. The door opened.

"Sir, how is he? Also, I brought you some tea." I wanted nothing more than to be able to open my eyes, because the voice was the voice of Armin. I tried to move my body to show him the slightest sign that I was awake, but my whole body was frozen. What happened next was surprising, because it was actually _Levi_ who replied.

"Thank you, Arlert. The is no changes yet." Levi actually sounded _worried_. I heard the door being quietly shut, and Levi sighed. I tried again to my something, and I managed to open my eyes. I was in the infirmary, no doubt. To the right of me was a black leather chair, with Levi in it. The chair was enormous, and Levi drowned in it. He hadn't seen I was awake yet, because he was looking out of the window with an unusual face expression-worry.

"C-Captain?" It was barely more than a whisper, but his face turned towards me.

"How are you doing, Jaeger?" His face was back to his normal bored expression, but I could still see some of the worry.

"My whole body hurts. W-What happened?" He looked down at me, and sighed.

"You passed out in the fining hall yesterday evening. Arlert got me and Hanji, and I carried you over here. You have been out for a little more than 24 hours." He took a sip of the tea that Armin had brought him.

"Now that you are actually awake, I will get Hanji to find out what's wrong with you. Now get a little more sleep." I closed my eyes, and right before I drifted of, the rag was taken of my forehead and rinsed, but before it was put back, I felt Levi's lips press down on my forehead, before the rag was back.

"Get better, Eren." _What the hell just happened?_

"Come on, Eren. Wake up" We're going to find out what's wrong with with you." I opened my eyes on the voice of Hanji, only to shut them again. The light was so strong I doubt anything other than the sun would shine that that bright.

I opened my eyes again, slowly getting used to the light. I felt one hand on my back, gently raising my back and another hand adjusting the pillow, so when I sunk back, I sat somewhat upright. I looked my left, and there she was, squad leader Hanji.

"We are going to find out what's wrong with you." I almost groaned.

"I got that the first time." Hanji ignored that, and continued.

"Very many people notice that you and Levi were gone the whole night and yesterday, Only me, Levi, Armin, Mikasa and Erwin know what's wrong. There have been some rumors about you..." I heard a 'tch' from behind me.

"Would you please get done finding out what's wrong with him? I have work to do." Levi came into view. Hanji clicked her tongue.

"Does it hurt anywhere?" Hanji had already taken my temperature, heart rate, and a bunch of other things.

"Just a bit in my head from when I hit my head in training a few days ago." Hanji noted this, and the looked over all the notes she had taken.

"My conclusion is that your body is worn out, and to get better you will have to take it easy in training, no transforming, and just to make sure, you will have to be around Levi most of the time. In the early evenings, after dinner, you be with you friends with without Levi." Hanji said, a grin covering the face of the brunette.

Take it easy in training? Fine. No transforming? Great. But spending my whole time with Levi. This couldn't possibly end well.

End
file.